

PLEASE PERFORM THE LINES OF TILLY ONLY

Note: This script can be performed by kids and adults alike.

The first day on the job can be nerve wracking for the best of us. But for Tilly Toothfairy, there's a lot on the line. No one believes she can do it. And "to tell you the tooth", she's not convinced she can do it either.

INT. NIGHTTIME - CHILD'S BEDROOM

Tilly timidly flies into the doorway of the bedroom.

1 TILLY 1
(Sotto)
Lights are off...no cameras to be seen...no boobie traps...child is sleeping...

She takes a deep breath and with resolve, enters the room and heads for the bed. Giving herself a pep talk.

2 TILLY (CONT'D) 2
You got this Tilly Tooth. You can be quiet. How hard could it be?
Just reach under the pillow and...

Feeling under the pillow, she can't find the tooth.

3 TILLY (CONT'D) 3
Huh. It's not there. (boldly) I'm going in!

She dives under the pillow. Shot stays on the outside while we here her muffled voice and efforts as she searches.

4 TILLY (CONT'D) 4
Where is it? It's gotta be in here somewhere? Oooo, is that it...nope...(effort/searching walla)

In the meantime, all her moving and chattering has stirred the sleeping child. Tilly hasn't notice. She burst out from under the pillow - as if she were under water for too long, exhausted, disheveled and empty handed - her back to the child.

5 TILLY (CONT'D) 5
(discouraged) I guess everyone was right. To tell you the tooth, I think I'm just going to go home.

6 CHILD
Why? 6

Startled by the voice, she whips around and comes face to face with the child who's sitting up in bed staring at her.

7 TILLY
(Screams - startled) 7
